Sad for Burglars.
Gen. New's Big Day.
Foaming Beer, Full Pocket.
It Ended Happily.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.)

When Postmaster-General New wisely reduced air mail charges to five cents for a one-ounce letter, it was suggested here that advertisers help our air service and attract attention by utilizing the air mail.

On Tuesday, in Lansing, Mich., the Reo Motor Car Company sent out ten tons of air mail advertising by the Thompson Aeronautical Corporation.

On the 350,000 one-ounce letters the government collected $17,500. It took 18 airplanes to carry the letters 175 miles to Chicago, whence the letters were distributed to far western points by other airplanes.

ORDINARY advertising by mail is waste. It costs five to forty times more than newspaper or magazine advertising per person reached. In addition, advertising mail matter is usually thrown into the waste basket.

But everybody opens an air mail letter, thinks about it, reads what's in it.

Use air mail in your business and promote flying.

THOMAS F. HEALY tells Cyrus H. K. Curtis that the fight between Hoover and Smith is a fight between "the foaming beer bucket and the full dinner pail."

The beer bucket is a big issue undoubtedly, also the non-foaming hip flask. But in these days of high wages the old-fashioned "full dinner pail" has lost importance.

The full POCKETBOOK is the modern issue.

THE court of Baku, Azerbaijan, says you know just where that is, supplies a plot that would have delighted Edgar Allan Poe.

A beautiful girl, very rich, was chained to the floor in a subterranean passage for four years by an uncle and cousin who wanted her money.

The uncle goes to jail for ten years, the son for six years.

The girl will get her large fortune and marry her "penniless lover."

Things do end happily sometimes.

DISCOURAGING to industrious burglars is a new vault, typical of the times, built by the Chase National Bank.

Three stories deep, the vault contains an elevator, stands on a piece of land worth $5,000,000 and is entirely surrounded with reinforced concrete 12 feet thick. The bottom of this vault is 85 feet below the ground, on solid rock.

To tell how much money is in it would make the burglars TOO sad.

WOMEN, old and young, are so brave it amazes you. Any woman will run into a fire and save her child.

Any woman will stand between a bullet and somebody that she likes.

Here comes Miss Nancy Glave, intelligent, young, good-looking, offering to jump from an airplane every day by parachute to help a charitable undertaking.

She never jumped from an airplane in her life. That makes no difference.

THE Ile de France, eastbound, launched an airplane 100 miles this side of the Scilly islands, sending it (Continued on Page 8, Column 4)

FUNERAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Lawyers to Attend Rites for Late Judge Billingsley.

Funeral services for Nathan B. Billingsley, Lisbon, former judge of county common pleas court, who died at Cambridge Springs early yesterday morning, will be held at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. G. Billingsley, 377 East Lincoln way, Lisbon.

Rev. C. C. Roth, Salem, who is also rector of the Trinity Episcopal church, Lisbon, will be in charge of the services. Burial will be made in Lisbon.

Attorney Jason H. Brookes, East Liverpool, who automatically succeeded Judge Billingsley as president of the Columbiana County Bar association, today named Judge Louis T. Farr of the district appellate court; Judge W. Frank Lones, common pleas court; and Judge Lodge Riddle, probate court, to draft a memorial to the late Judge Billingsley to be read at a meeting of the bar association in common pleas court room No. 1 at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Immediately after the meeting of the association, the county barristers will attend the funeral in a body.

MURPHY GETS PROMISE THAT BLIMP WILL COME TO CITY

News Dispatches Says Visit Arranged for Sept. 7.

TO MAKE PLANS

Uniontown, Youngstown and Steubenville Also on Itinerary.

Giant dirigible, Los Angeles, which was to have come to East Liverpool Thursday to attend ceremonies at the Chamber of Commerce airport in Madison township, will come here next Friday, if "weather is favorable," according to a wire to the Chamber of Commerce from Congressman B. Frank Murphy, received late yesterday afternoon.

News dispatches from Washington today were to the effect that the trip to East Liverpool is scheduled for Friday, September 7, but Murphy's wire said the visit was set for next Friday. The Washington Post stated that the airports at Uniontown, Steubenville and Youngstown would be visited on the same trip.

The proposed visit of the "silver whale" to western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio last Thursday was called off by a series of storms sweeping the Atlantic seaboard states and war department officials feared to take the craft from its hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., in view of the weather reports. The craft was to have visited the Floyd Bennett aviation field near Uniontown in the morning coming here in the afternoon.

The Chamber of Commerce aviation committee will meet probably today or Monday to arrange for the blimp's visit to East Liverpool. The plan is to have it circle over the city for a few minutes before proceeding to the airport where it will remain suspended close to the ground for about two hours. Because of the lack of a suitable mast at the local aviation grounds the craft cannot land here.

The sign "East Liverpool" on the roof of the seven-story Crook building in East Fifth street, has been given a fresh coat of yellow paint for the convenience of the dirigible crew, which is said to number 36 men.

The Chamber of Commerce committee is making an effort to bring the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation's baby blimp, Puritan, to this city and a number of airplanes on the same date. The Puritan will probably act as an escort to the "silver whale" in its visit to the three eastern Ohio airports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Weather permitting, the navy dirigible Los Angeles on August 31 will fly over Uniontown, Pa., and East Liverpool, Youngstown and Steubenville, Ohio, it was announced today.

The trip will enable the ship to participate in dedication of a bridge at Steubenville, and flying field ceremonies in the others.

TWO SHOT BY SAME BULLET

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Dr. Julian M. Sinks, 41, married and the father of two children, was shot and fatally wounded early today as he sat in his automobile with Miss Rose Steele, 28, a patient.

The same bullet passed through the body of Dr. Sinks and wounded Miss Steele. She is in a serious condition and may not live.

An 18-year-old immigrant boy, so anemic and weak he had to use both hands to pull the trigger, did the shooting. He fired when the doctor resisted his attempts at robbery.

ASSEMBLE 2,000 GALLONS LIQUOR FOR BYRD TRIP

Dr. Coman, Medical Officer Orders Alcohol for Expedition.

SHIP IS READY Tri-Motored Ford Plane Given Final Tests.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Hasty efforts to assemble 2,000 gallons of pure grain alcohol and several hundred gallons of choice liquors including champagne as part of the medicinal supplies of Commander Byrd's Antarctic expedition were being made today as the City of New York, base ship of the expedition prepared to sail at noon.

The liquors were ordered by Dr. Francis Coman of Johns Hopkins university, chief medical officer of the expedition. Commander Byrd was making frantic efforts to round up the liquors in time to load them on the City of New York and was being aided in his task by prohibition administrator Maurice Campbell.

The City of New York, loaded with 200 tons of supplies and carrying 31 members of the expedition was scheduled to sail at noon on the 9,200 mile trip to Dunedin, New Zealand. A reception will be held aboard the vessel before sailing and city officials and several of the backers of the expedition party will travel down the bay with the steamer. They will be returned on the city tug Macom when the New York strikes the open sea.

Forty Boy Scouts from Erie, Pa., were on hand to bid farewell to Paul Siple, Boy Scout chosen as a member of the party.

Bernie Balchen, one of the pilots announced that the big three-motored Ford plane he brought from Detroit yesterday had responded to the tests satisfactorily. It, with three other planes will be packed on the Chelsea, the second ship of the expedition which will sail next month. The entire party will be assembled at New Zealand before the trip to the Antarctic.

Investigate New York Subway Disaster Which Kills 14 and Injures 95 Others

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Fourteen persons were killed and 95 injured, some probably mortally, in New York's worst underground disaster, an accurate check of hospitals and morgues revealed today, as the subway trains again started roaring through their tunnels on schedule and at full speed.

Twelve of the dead have been identified but the bodies of two women, mangled almost beyond recognition as human beings, still remained in the Bellevue morgue.

While police, hospitals and the claims department of the Interborough subway completed their summary of the disaster in terms of life and money, the machinery of the law swung into action to place blame for the tragedy.

Police Commissioner Warren charged today that subway employees at the Times Square station knew that the damaged switch which caused the wreck was defective. The train was held at the station for five minutes while repairs were made at the switch, he said. When asked why the train was allowed to proceed at its regular speed over the defective switch, Interborough officials said they would make no statement until the company's official inquiry was completed.

The damaged switch was split by the ninth car of the train, which had just pulled out of the station. The steel side of the car was ground off when it crashed against the platform and heavy pillars supporting the street above, and ripped through the concrete supporting wall.

The screaming passengers of the eight cars, packed in like sardines, were thrown into the tracks. Fire, caused by short circuiting and burning insulation, turned the tunnel into a shambles.

Into this inferno were catapulted the terror-stricken occupants of the eighth car, which tore loose from the train and toppled over near the burning wreckage of the ninth. The falling passengers clutched at available supports in the car but were swept relentlessly into the flaming wreck.

NO REDUCTION IN FIRE RATES AT THIS TIME CHAMBER TOLD

Underwriter Engineer Says Recommendations Not Complied

CONFERENCE HELD

Urges Adoption of Building Code by City Council.

Fire insurance rates in East Liverpool will not be reduced until at least the major defects pointed out by the National Board of Fire Underwriters in a recent survey of the city are corrected. W. S. Rathbun, Chicago, engineer for the national board told city councilmen, city officials and Chamber of Commerce directors at a joint meeting with the Chamber's fire insurance committee last night.

Using as a basis for his discussion the recommendations made by the fire underwriters early last year when they completed a detailed survey of the city's fire hazards, fire-fighting equipment and structural conditions, Rathbun outlined how the various recommendations could be fulfilled.

Councilmen and Chamber of Commerce directors informally pledged themselves to make concerted efforts to remedy the conditions here to bring lower insurance rates. Each defect remedied will bring lower rates closer to reality, Rathbun asserted.

Recent passage of the one-mill levy for additional firemen boosted the Ceramic city in the underwriter's rating, but will not cause rate reduction, Rathbun declared.

He advised council to go ahead with the framing of suitable building ordinance and electrical code, also pointing out the necessity of thoroughly cleaning downtown city water mains.

Rathbun also asserted that firemen here should be put through daily exercises and fire drills with religious regularity. Practices at making hose connections, placing and climbing of ladders and other preparations for actual emergency were advocated.

Within the last two years, at least nine fire insurance companies have withdrawn from East Liverpool, two of the concerns leaving after having done business here for 60 years, the Fire Underwriters representative stated.

OHIO "CERTAIN"

Secretary Plans "18-hour Sleep" Over Sunday.

By William K. Hutchinson.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—While his lieutenants boasted that his western trip had carried him to within 31 electoral votes of election as president, Herbert Hoover today picked up the reins of his party to run his own campaign in the east.

His only plans for the week-end was to get "18 hours sleep," to catch up on some of the rest lost on his 3,500 mile trip from California to Washington. On Monday he will open his presidential campaign office in a fashionable residence near his own home in northwest Washington.

The Hoover claims for electoral votes undoubtedly will be disputed heartily by Democratic leaders. His advisers nevertheless were confident, and so too was Hoover, that he will carry the west in almost landslide proportions from the Mississippi river to the Pacific ocean.

Hoover claimed 235 electoral votes "were in the bag," while but 266 are required for election. The states listed as "certain" for Hoover were:

Pennsylvania 33; Ohio 24; Indiana 15; Illinois 29; Michigan 15; Minnesota 12; Iowa 13; North Dakota 5; Nebraska 8; Oklahoma 10; Kansas 10; Colorado 6; Wyoming 3; Utah 4; Nevada 3; Idaho 4; Oregon 5; Washington 7; California 18; Arizona 4; West Virginia 5.

Hoover has a great area, including the whole Atlantic seaboard, from which to pick up the missing 31 votes and to recover whatever states he might lose from his "certain" list.

The claims did not include the conceded Republican states: New England, such as Maine with 6 votes, and New Hampshire and Vermont with 3 each. They did not include the "doubtful" states of Montana and New Mexico in the west, or South Dakota in the farm belt, or Kentucky, Missouri and Maryland on the border.

They included no states from the south, although Hooverites will wage fights to win Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and North Carolina.

New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island were left out of the estimate. The Republican will go after New York with as much energy as though the presidential election depended on the outcome there, but Hoover leaders have become convinced that he can win the election without carrying New York.

Hoover will not add to his previous prohibition announcements for some time to come unless developments of the campaign justify further discussion of the issue. He would prefer to let the subject alone, regardless of his Democratic rival's activities in that direction.

SMITH GOES TO CONVENTION

Clifford Smith, secretary of the Pressman's local No. 123, East Liverpool, left today for Hocking Valley, Tenn., where he will be a delegate to the International Pressman's convention to be held in the International Pressman's home in Hocking Valley. Smith will be gone a week.

YOUR SPEEDOMETER TALKS

And Helps You Get Exactly the Right Lubricating Oil for Your Car

LOOK at your SPEEDOMETER before you buy oil . . . the mileage indicates how much wear there is in your cylinders . . . It tells the Authorized Opaline Dealer the exact grade of Opaline Motor Oil your engine requires!

Why? . . . Simply because the place where motor oil does its biggest job is in the cylinders . . . between the walls and the pistons. Here is a SPACE that must be sealed by your oil to prevent your power from blowing by!

It stands to reason that this space differs in a car . . . when it is new . . . when it has been driven 2,000 miles . . . when it has traveled 12,000 miles. Wear constantly increases the space between the piston and the cylinder wall, and it calls for increasing heavier motor oil.

Sinclair makes Opaline Motor Oil, in suitable grades, to fit those varying degrees of wear.

Tell us your SPEEDOMETER READING and we will sell you the exact grade of Opaline to seal the power in your engine. BUY OIL BY MILEAGE—WHEREVER YOU SEE THE SINCLAIR OPALINE SIGN.

A State Road Custom

Fine old customs soon are forgotten on a soda-popped, hot-dog, motorized state highway. The farmer no longer waves to his neighbors as he jogs along in his weather-beaten buggy; he abandoned the wave when he abandoned the buggy. The cordial old cry, "hop in, stranger," or "going my way?" no longer issues from slowed-down buggies to delight the ears of pedestrians.

Do hitch-hikers, meeting today at a cross-roads greet each other unsuspiciously and perhaps share rations, as wayfarers have done from time immemorial? They do not. Motorists out beyond the city confines do not stop to exchange gossip. However, when fenders scrape they may stop to exchange denunciations. There are few highway customs as pleasant as those lately destroyed.

Yet there is at least one. It may be discovered by riding in the front seat of an intercity bus, where one has an unobstructed view ahead. A truck tops an incline and bears down upon you. Its headlights flash on and off, and on and off, although the sun shines brightly. Your driver reaches forward, flashes his own headlights, then raises his arm and extends his arm in grave, ceremonious response to an upraised arm and extended hand behind the windshield of the truck. You have witnessed an exchange of polite greetings, a "hello," drawing a response of "how are you?" You may meet a hundred such exchanges in the course of a two-hour journey.

Drivers of huge freight or passenger vehicles, tolerantly contemptuous of the non-professionals speeding by with a mingled drone and whizz in their plummy passenger cars, have a warm respect for each other. Drivers of pleasure cars cuss drivers of commercial trucks and passenger busses, and frequently the drivers need the cussing, but by and large they are a pretty decent sort of clan. The bus driver, or the truck driver, is a busy man, too. And no wonder, with so many incompetent and reckless amateurs clogging the turnpikes. It is too bad some of the courtesy of these truck drivers cannot be extended to the fellows who drive the pleasure cars. Likewise, it is too bad some of the courtesy of the passenger-car driver cannot be absorbed by the truck driver who pays no attention whatever to crowding the smaller car into the ditch, or does not heed the shrill blast of the horn from behind, which ought to be a signal to pull over a little.

Holland and Sports

Holland, host to the athletes of the world during the Olympic games, has contributed three popular sports to civilization. Two of these sports—yachting and skating—have been incorporated into the Olympic games, but golf has not yet been included.

One may question that golf originated in Holland. Scotland has long been considered the cradle of this sport. But it is a matter of record that golf comes from kolf, meaning a club, and that the Dutch played a game with such club centuries ago. The word yacht is from the Dutch word jacht, which originally referred to hunting, or the chase; and skate is from schaat, meaning skate.

The Scotch should get all the credit there is for shaping golf into the sport it now is, and for popularizing it, but the Dutch are held responsible for its origin. Certain etchings have been ferreted out of the art treasures of the nation which pictures the ancient kolf players on the links.

It is a matter of record that in 1675 the well-equipped Dutch golfer went forth to the links swathed in a mantle like a Roman toga, that he carried a muf and wore skates, because kolf was an ice game. In place of a golf bag he carried a sword in a scabbard. Yet he was not entirely an unfamiliar figure as he stands forth boldly in a cap, the same baggy plus-fours, the golf socks and even the identical snappy knee tassels which decorate the tout ensemble of the fastidious golfer of today.

Yachting originated, the authorities agree, on the Zuider, that shallow salt arm of the ocean which, quite appropriately, is to be the scene of the Olympic yacht races. The sport was started by certain old sea dogs who tried to retire, and couldn't.

To a Netherlander a pair of skates was, and, in a great measure, still is as necessary as an automobile is to an American. In winter when the canals freeze the Dutchman skates to work, he tours the country on skates, his servants go to market on skates, the mail in some places is delivered by postmen on skates.

So it is only natural that skates should promote the sport of skating as bicycle and automobiles have promoted bicycle and motorcar racing in this country. The Dutch soon become outstanding performers in figure skating, now one of the Olympic sports. They became famous also for their long distance journeys in which they speed on skates from one end of the kingdom to the other.

Another "biggest still yet" has been raided by dry officers out in Peoria, Illinois. The number of stills of that description which have been seized by the enforcement forces is simply astounding.

The first steel cable of the $20,000,000 "Ambassador" bridge from Detroit to Ontario has been strung, and thus the work of speeding up relief for the thirsty of the City of the Straits goes on!

Several mountains are said to have disappeared during the recent series of earthquakes down in Mexico. We assume that California would call one like that a conflagration.

We have not come upon anything thus far to indicate that Texas Guinan halted the New York judge before whom she was summoned to appear "Hello, sucker!"

President Coolidge is said to be fearful that there may be a deficit. Was there ever a man on a summer vacation who wasn't?

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 24.—A violent attack upon the United States and her policies in dealing with our detached territories, and friendly neighboring peoples bordering on the Caribbean Sea, has been published in Spain and is creating a sensation in Latin America. It is a book called La Agonia Antillana, or The Arony of the Antilles, written by Luis Araquistain, a brilliant Spanish journalist who recently made a trip to the United States, Cuba, Porto Rico, Haiti, and San Domingo.

Araquistain has made up somewhat by fine writing what his book lacks in facts and sober judgment, and has pictured the people of the Antilles as being slowly crushed under the iron heel of North American imperialism, imperialism, and capitalism. His proposal is for a league of Caribbean states which would appeal to the League of Nations for protection against Yankee domination. He would have Porto Rico independence of this country, and the other islands free from the influence of our progress and culture.

Already a reaction is evident among thoughtful people who have welcomed the growing understanding with the United States. American diplomatic and consular agents, and Americans living and trading in the Antilles, have watched the various reactions to the book with interest.

In Porto Rico, the Commissioner of Education, Juan B. Huyke, a native of the island, has published in newspaper articles a comprehensive refutation of most of Araquistain's arguments. Huyke sees Porto Rico as the most advanced meeting ground of the North American and the Latin-American ideals, a melting pot of the Spanish and Yankee cultures. To his mind this development is one of progress, a great blessing rather than a crushing agony. The alarms of the Spanish journalist which before the application of fact and logic. If they disturb the radical and anti-American enthusiasts of Latin America, he sees no reason for disturbing people with broader vision and better sense.

Huyke has answered only on behalf of Porto Rico, but the sanity and calmness of his views, and the facts which he marshals to display the exact situation of Porto Rico under the jurisdiction of the United States, will have their effect wherever the Spaniard's hectic writing has stirred public opinion. Huyke discerns no agony in Porto Rico. On the material side he sees what any observer not blinded by prejudice can see, a land of 1,300,000 people set free by the United States from ignorance and exploitation, and thriving greatly in every way, with education, trade, law, order, and justice vastly benefited, and national wealth increased many hundred per cent in 30 years of progress under the Stars and Stripes.

On the cultural side he sees something more, a land where the Porto Rican native people, the Spanish, and the Americans are living and working in peace and harmony, with a sprinkling of other nationalities, and an educational system teaching not only the English and Spanish language side by side, but the whole culture and tradition of both races. In the University of Porto Rico even the critical Araquistain saw a remarkable institution. The Spanish traveler refused, however, the offer of Huyke to show him the whole educational system of common and high schools built up by the United States. From this the educator concludes that the journalist wanted to see only the dark side of the Antillean picture, and kept his eyes and ears tightly closed against evidence that it was possible and practical for the ideals of the United States and Latin culture to mix and mingle and produce a happy, prosperous, educated, and independent people.

Huyke is especially cognizant of the advantages of a good education, in the language, the classics, and the culture of North America and of Spain and the old Spanish-America. He sees Porto Rican youths going out into all parts of the new world from their own high schools and universities, and outdoing the youths of other Latin American nations because of their knowledge of two languages and two social systems, and their ability to assimilate the best of each. Thus in place of an inevitable and perpetual conflict between the two, as pictured by Araquistain, Huyke sees in Porto Rico a demonstration of harmony, progress, and happiness may come from a blending of the two.

Politically Huyke thinks probably the majority of Porto Ricans are, in theory, for independence within the United States, but not actively concerned about it. The immediate clamor is either for statehood as one of the United States, or for the present autonomy plus the right to elect the governor instead of having him appointed from Washington. He concedes the difficulties of the color question because Porto Rico is approximately three parts white population and one negro. In the religious problems he thinks the Catholic Church is far from being opposed to the United States' administration as Araquistain contends. He points out that a strictly American institution, the Knights of Columbus, is taking a strong place with the Catholic population, while the growing Protestant churches of the island have helped to strengthen religion generally, both Catholic and Protestant.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre,

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The pick of artist models now make $10 a day although the average is around $7 a day. For many years they were paid 50 cents an hour. The job has proved an entering wedge for the stage and screen—and successful marriage.

When artists such as Harrison Fisher and Neysa McMein select a model whose beauty is spread on canvas and later on the magazine covers, she is more than likely "made." Beauty show producers and cinema magnates watch for new models to glorify.

Nearly all the famous show girls who strutted across stage in magnificent costumes during the past decade began as models. The mannikins employed in the dressmaking saloons are paid from $35 to $75 a week. Facial beauty is not important. The figure and walk count.

The majority of models come from American villages. Despite extravagant stories of high-jinks in the studios the bulk of the girls are not intent upon a stage or screen career or capturing an aging Wall Street broker with a palace on the Hudson and a sclerotic liver.

They pose as models to pay their way through school or to pursue knowledge for a profession. Most of them live at art clubs or semi-philanthropic institutions where all lights are out at 11 o'clock and the front door locked and barred shortly thereafter.

Greenwich Village, of course, has its quota of high flying models who use the calling merely as a respectable veneer to hide the fast pace. They are really "call girls" who respond to a summons from dubious establishments to aid in entertaining visiting buyers.

Such as these often give the business a false status. There are several reputable agencies which supply models of every type for a small fee. While several models have married famous artists, the attitude toward them is generally as impersonal as it is toward their paints and brushes.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.
By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Many persons are afflicted with varicose veins of the legs, varicose ulcers or both. Laundresses, bakers, cooks, barbers, store clerks and other persons who stand on their feet for long hours at a time are apt to suffer with these painful troubles.

As a rule, varicose veins are caused by some interference in the circulation of the blood. Something has produced increased tension in the vessels. It may come after some debilitating sickness, childbirth, or a climatic injury.

The first symptoms noticed in varicose ulcer are swelling of the limbs, pressure on the veins causing enlargement, twists and knots. Soon after this the tissues break down, because of the lack of elasticity and the stretching of the tissues. Then the ulcers appear.

At first there may be just a red, denuded surface. But very soon an ulcer is formed. This may be small, or it may involve the surface of the leg to a diameter of five or six inches. In some cases the ulcer extends clear around the leg.

The area between the knee and ankle is almost always the seat of the trouble. Sometimes the varicose veins spread above the knee, but this is not the rule.

From the first appearance of the enlargement of the veins it is a great help to wear either a tight bandage or an elastic stocking. When I say a tight bandage, I do not mean one which cuts off the circulation, but it should be applied firmly enough to give support to the limb.

Elastic stockings may be purchased at any surgical supply house or a drug store carrying these things. In any case, the stockings must be properly fitted by some one who understands their use in such cases.

Local treatment of the ulcers is necessary, but the first thing to do is to build up the general health. Until the general vigor is improved, it is difficult to relieve the local trouble.

Whenever possible a person suffering with varicose veins should remain off the feet, keeping the limb elevated. This may be done by putting a pillow on a chair and resting the limb on it. In this way the excess blood is kept out of the veins and the swelling is reduced.

In cases where the ulcer is open, great care should be exercised in keeping it clean. It should be washed with clean water and soap, dried carefully, and then dusted with zinc oxide or powdered quinine. If the wound becomes infected the pus must be cleaned up each day.

Other Editors Say

Suburbs of rapidly growing Ohio cities which have permitted themselves to develop in a haphazard way, giving no heed to the plotting of streets and residence districts, and referring such an orderly program to some remote time to come, have been brought up with a resolute purpose by the Ohio supreme court. Upon the appeal of a law suit from Youngstown the court has upheld the constitutionality of the law which gives city planning commissioners the right to approve or reject plats of land for subdivision uses within three miles of any city. This decision means that in the future much confusion and expense is to be avoided. Sewers, streets and other improvements will have to be planned with a view to the welfare of the whole urban district, rather than that of the suburb which goes forward with its local projects, and in its own blundering way.—Akron Beacon Journal.

Leap Continent in 19 Hours

Here are Colonel Arthur Goebel, Dole flier (top), and Harry Tucker, his backer, disembarking from their Lockheed Vega monoplane after flashing across the continent from Los Angeles to Curtiss Field in the record time of 18 hours and 58 minutes. The map shows the course of their flight.

GLITTERING GOLDEN ROADS,
BUT THEY'RE NOT IN PARADISE

At top are some of the gold dumps of low grade ore in the Cripple Creek mining district of Colorado, shown after the gold, which is easily obtainable, has been removed. The road at the bottom is one of the new state roads of Colorado, which has been surfaced with low-grade gold ore, although there are millions of dollars in gold still in it.

ALL the glory is not Rome's. Even with all the pomp and show of their ancient splendor, their glittering arrays of centuries and marble palaces, never did Rome have golden streets. All the ancients romanced about the beautiful cities in foreign lands which had golden streets, but none of them have come to light to date. Even more modern peoples conceived that the streets of Paradise were paved with gold, but whether or not they were right has never been revealed. Right here in our little old United States is the only State which actually has golden streets. Rich in scenic beauty and precious metals, Colorado is using gold ore to make some of her roads. Here's the joker. Years of gold mining in the State have created huge dumps of gold ore of such low grade that the cost of getting the precious metal out is more than the results are worth. Now there are millions of dollars of gold left in this low-grade ore, enough to make a real tough, long-wearing surface on the roads which are made from it. So now that State road builders are using it, Colorado tourists are realizing the dreams of the ancients. But this is only one of our modern wonders. Modern facts are the dreams of long ago. What are we coming to?

Resting at Wayside Inn

Henry Ford, colossus of the motor industry, is pictured above beside a well more than a century old in the dooryard of Wayside Inn, at Sudbury, Mass., the restoration of which he undertook about two years ago. The colonial hostelry is filled with rare Americana purchased by Mr. Ford and maintained by him for the people of the United States.

Millions of dollars were spent to make possible the New Frigidaire.
Sound-proof rooms were constructed for tests. Sound recording instruments were used, more delicate than the human ear. The result is an entirely new development in automatic refrigeration.

The New Frigidaire is incredibly quiet. You don't hear it start. You don't hear it stop. You don't hear it run. It meets every emergency, every demand, with the same smooth effortless performance, the same absolute reliability.

The New Frigidaire is the most beautiful refrigerator ever developed commercially. But more surprising even than its beauty, is the convenience of its details. You should see it for yourself... you should visualize it in your own kitchen... only then can you realize the advance which the New Frigidaire marks in convenient housekeeping.

Big special demonstration opens Thursday, August 23rd

The New Frigidaire is now on our showroom floor. We're giving a remarkable demonstration every day and every night this week. We're showing what the New Frigidaire will do under actual household conditions. We're showing just why it runs so quietly and so efficiently. We're showing how it insures absolutely safe refrigeration.

Come in and see the New Frigidaire in operation. For your convenience, we are open each night this week and next week until ten o'clock.

ries new low prices and easy General Motors terms... prices and terms which make it possible for everyone to have the benefits of Frigidaire now.

G. O. P. NAMES DAYTON MAN OHIO MANAGER

Harry Silver to Direct State Republican Campaign.

BRUSH HONORED Political Leaders Hold Conference at Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 25.—Harry D. Silver, Dayton realtor, today was preparing plans for the Republican state campaign this fall. Silver was chosen manager of the G. O. P. campaign to be waged on behalf of that party's state ticket. Appointment of silver and the selection of Arthur A. Nixon, Dayton, as chairman of the Republican state central committee featured a conference here late yesterday of Republican state leaders, nominees for state offices and members of the newly-elected state central committee. The state central committee perfected an organization by designating Nixon as chairman, Mrs. Louise Ogden Devoe, Ashland, vice-chairman, and William H. Duffy, Columbus, secretary-treasurer. The committee decreed that it would serve, also, as the state executive committee, with its own officers filling similar positions on the latter committee. Silver was named at the head of a campaign committee which includes Mrs. Wilma Sinclair Levan, Steubenville, former national committeewoman, and Mrs. Hugh Clark, Steubenville, national committeewoman, who will aid Silver in directing campaign activities; Carmel A. Thompson, Cleveland, who will serve as treasurer; William Thompson, Youngstown, secretary, and Louis H. Brush, Salem, chairman of the finance committee. Silver was authorized to select, from time to time, such additional members of the campaign committee

Brown, Columbus, as Secretary Herbert Hoover's personal representative on the committee; Mayor John D. Marshall, Cleveland, as the personal representative of Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, Republican nominee for U. S. senator, unexpired term, and of Edward Martin as personal representative of U. S. Senator Simon D. Fess, who is seeking re-election.

MARTINS FERRY MAYOR IS SUED

MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 25.—Four Martins Ferry motion picture theatre operators, who were arrested when they attempted to run Sunday shows here, today filed suit for $10,000 damages each against Mayor Howard A. Duff and Police Chief J. W. Muhlen, alleging arrest without warrant. Their petitions also set forth that they were refused bail by reason of the mayor disappearing from the city; and that they were jailed with drunks and an insane person forced to sit on the cell floor until late at night.

DEFECTIVE GAS TANK DELAYS ATLANTIC TRIP

French Ace Returns to Le Bourget Field.

PLANE DAMAGED Difficulty Experienced by Birdmen in Take-off.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Capt. Louis Goudouret, French ace, who hopped off with two companions at 6:07 o'clock this morning for a trans-Atlantic flight to New York, returned to Le Bourget field a short time later, landing safely. Goudouret made an unsatisfactory take-off, running the entire length of the field before the plane rose into the air. The machine ran along the ground for about a mile and a quarter before it began to ascend. The flyers were unable to get into the air until they had emptied many gallons of their fuel. When the machine did leave the ground it barely cleared the trees on the edge of the field. Goudouret made a turn and then brought the plane back to the field. It landed so heavily that both tires upon the landing wheels burst. Pilot Goudouret was in an angry mood when he climbed from the cockpit. "The gasoline tank leaked like a sieve," he exclaimed. "We got off the ground with the greatest difficulty, missing the roof of the hangars by only a few feet. It was then that we discovered the leak. The trouble was due to faulty work on the part of the construction of the plane." The plane, which was painted a brilliant red, was wheeled from the hangar at 1:30 o'clock and given final inspection. At that time it was not known that the fuel tank was in bad condition. There was only a small crowd present when the plane left the field. The crew consisted of three men—two in addition to Goudouret. They did not reach the field until a short time before the take off. They had made a test flight yesterday afternoon when the plane seemed to be in perfect working order. At 6:30 they left the field to get a good sleep before hopping off for America. The two companions of Capt. Goudouret were Lieut. De Lailly Nesles and Capt. Lailieux. They had expected to fly by way of the Azores if all had gone well. Their machine was named "France."

BOATS PREPARE FOR REGATTA

Races at Marietta Friday Postponed by Rain.

MARIETTA, O., Aug. 25.—With fair weather promised, the exodus of speed boat fans to the banks of the Muskingum began early today, thrilled with anticipation over the completion of events in the regatta which was abruptly halted yesterday by a torrential downpour sending fifteen thousand spectators scurrying for cover. Alonzo Pawling, Milwaukee millionaire sportsman, whose little craft was badly damaged Thursday, by flames when his engine blew up, again provided the big thrill of the day. Desperately striving to overtake the leader in the class C race, Pawling whirled his wheel as he rounded a buoy at thirty miles an hour and the steering apparatus ripped off. The pilot narrowly escaped death when the boat swerved toward a steel barge, careening away when but a scant yard from the barge. Winners of the events run off yesterday are: Mrs. Genevieve Atwood, 3-mile course open competition. Irving Smith, Flint, Mich., first heat, Class C event. Ben Coler, Chicago, second heat, Class C event. Merle Dye, Marietta, first heat, Class D amateur event. Other heats in this event were halted by rain. Smith and Coler will fight it out today for supremacy in the Class C event. Featuring today's program will be the straightway dashes of one mile in competition for the Dawes cup, donated by the vice-president.

Investigate Disaster

The forward half of the severed ninth car skidded down the tracks like a headless horseman and collapsed. The rear end of the car was telescoped by the tenth and last car. The screams of the victims, reverberating through the tunnel like the death agonies of wild beasts, were borne to the ears of thousands of home-goers who crowded the platform of the Times Square station. Terrified by the shrill cries of the dying, by the flashes of electrical fire and by the smudgy smoke which filled the tunnel, the rush-hour crowd became panic stricken and fought to reach the exits.

A detective pulled police and fire alarms and recruited scores of patrolmen who cleared the platforms and began rescue work. Dozens of ambulances from 14 hospitals arrived and carried away the bodies of mangled victims.

IN SEVEN DAYS New York's telephone company collected $3,558 for answering "what time is it?" Those that asked the time and paid for an answer numbered 77,150. Beggs, Sandusky, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Silver's report showed that Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican gubernatorial nominee, contributed $2,400 and that among the contributors were 19 persons who gave $1,000 each, including Dorothy B. State Senator Eugene Roberts, Youngstown, unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, said he received $100 and spent $1,293 including $200 for an airplane trip. John H. Price, Cleveland, who made a futile quest for the Republican nomination for attorney general, reported that he received nothing and spent $1,463.

AL WELCOMED IN NEW JERSEY

Big Crowds Cheer Democratic Party Standard Bearer.

By Raymond I. Bory.

SEAGIRT, N. J., Aug. 25.—New Jersey Democrats turned out by the thousands today to acclaim Governor Al Smith, presidential candidate, who came here to review national guard troops.

This marked the first public appearance of Smith since he formally accepted the presidential nomination and the Democratic hosts of New Jersey were prepared to make the most of it. Hours before the formal review was to take place, all roads leading to Seagirt were jammed with automobiles and busses bringing men, women and children from all parts of the state to pay homage to the Democratic standard bearer.

Special trains from Jersey City, Newark and other New Jersey cities began to arrive shortly before noon, bringing additional thousands to what is expected to be the greatest Democratic rally in the history of New Jersey.

COLLEGE TRUSTEE OUT FOR SMITH

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—At least one trustee of Amherst, President Coolidge's alma mater, is out for Governor Smith.

Democratic headquarters today made public a telegram from Arthur Curtiss James, financier, railroad operator and manufacturer, pledging his support to the Democratic national ticket. James has been a trustee of Amherst since 1904. He is a director of the C. B. & O., Great Northern, and several smaller railroads as well as director and vice-president of the Phelps-Dodge corporation. "Hearty congratulations on your acceptance speech," he wired Governor Smith from his Newport, R. I. estate. "I pledge you my support."

VET AVIATOR MAKES RECORD

Drops 3,400 Feet Before Parachute Opens.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Jack Cope, veteran aviator, today boasted a new world's record in "parachuting" from an airplane.

Cope stepped into space from an airplane cabin door 10,000 feet over Ashburne flying field here. He dropped 3,400 feet before opening his parachute.

His plummet-like drop lasted thirteen and one-half seconds, and covered a verticle distance equivalent to five Woolworth towers one on top of the other. He landed safely amid a foursome of golfers. The previous "sheer drop" record was held by Sergt. Boes, army aviator, who claimed to have fallen 2,200 feet before opening his parachute. Cope admitted he had not intended to fall so far. "It was my intention to count twenty before I yanked the cord," he said. "But I became confused and counted up to twenty-eight before I pulled."

ASHLAND TO SEE "BLUE LAW" WAR

ASHLAND, O., Aug. 25.—Possibility of the opening of a "blue law" war, on a large scale, loomed here today following action of embittered theatre owners in serving notices on all business men in the city that affidavits for arrest would be filed against anyone doing business on Sunday. At the recent primary election, a proposal to repeal the existing ban on Sunday shows was voted down and the notification of business men by theatre operators forecast a drastic campaign on the part of the show men to keep their theatres open on Sunday.

MOVIE BRIDE TO RESUME WORK

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., Aug. 25.—The honeymoon of Jacqueline Logan, film actress, who was married to Larry Winston, Los Angeles broker, at Agua Caliente, Mexico, recently, will come to a peculiar termination Monday when she resumes her picture work here. Inasmuch as her final decree of divorce from her first husband does not become final until next March, Miss Logan and her husband will part at the international boundary line. If they live together as man and wife in California before Miss Logan's decree becomes final, authorities said she would be liable to prosecution on bigamy charges. "We intend to live apart until we can be legally married in California," Miss Logan stated. Airplanes are proving successful in Peru in fighting insects which attack the cotton plants.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Friday's brilliant advance in the motor and industrial stocks was carried into the short session of the market today and prices of the market favorites started the day from one to five points higher. Buying orders flowed to the financial district in good volume as speculative experts heralded the approach of a "new bull movement."

A favorable setting for the new advance was furnished by the week-end financial and business reviews of the banks and mercantile agencies, which forecasted a wide expansion in American business this year and increasing profits for the corporations.

Bullish forces were encouraged by the aggressive leadership furnished by General Motors. The stock was taken in large blocs of from 10,000 to 15,000 shares at the highest prices on the recovery and representing a gain of nearly 20 points from the low of last week. Buying of Chrysler and stimulated by the advance notices of the new Dodge models, which are expected to have a favorable public appeal. Packard, Hupp, and Studebaker failed to gain, though the stocks were taken in good volume.

Allied Chemicals joined the 200-club when that stock jumped seven points to 204 active trading in the first period. Greene Cananea took the spotlight from American Smelting as the leader of the high-priced coppers, advancing about seven points to 120.

Anaconda sold above 72 and International Nickel was forced up to 2 points in active trading.

The ticker fell nine minutes behind the market at the end of the first hour when it accompanied the last heavy movement in May and June. The Ras-kobs and Duponts were reported active behind the buying of General Motors, absorbing stock "with both hands" as fast as it was offered.

Await County Action On Water Line Work

City Officials Seek Aid in Reconstruction Project; Repair Crews Smooth Out 'Wrinkles' in Commerce Street.

Awaiting action of the county commissioners following their recent conference with Service Director George B. Imbrie, City Engineer R. D. McGill and other city officials relative to the reconstruction of the 16-inch main water supply line from the reservoir in Little Yellow creek to the city, at the third mill dam, municipal service department crews are concentrating their attention on street repair work.

Service Director Imbrie announced today that temporary repairs have been completed in Commerce street between Eleventh and Fifteenth streets.

In this section the city has endeavored to smooth out the almost numberless "wrinkles" in the present brick surface by the application of amesite and good results have been obtained. Progress continues on the Clark avenue improvement work, also, Director Imbrie announces.

City crews are now working in the vicinity of the McLain Fire Brick Twenty-Fourth street.

Imbrie today was unable to reach county commissioners for a statement as to their plan of action in respect to the water line job. The city is appealing for aid in the relaying of the pipe and the construction of possibly a trestle across the creek at the point where the pipe was snapped off by storm. The pipe crossed the creek directly above the dam. When the dam was washed out, the creek bed dropped 10 to 15 feet, or to the lower level. Temporary pipe is now swung across the creek on cables.

'PRIVATE' PEAT TO GIVE TALK

World War Hero Speaker at Chautauqua Tonight.

"Private" Harold R. Peat, native Canadian and naturalized American citizen, and the Claremont Ensemble of string musicians will furnish instruction and entertainment for Redpath chautauqua patrons in today's program.

The Claremont ensemble, organized and coached by Harold Lewis who toured the Redpath circuit in 1926 will appear this afternoon. Among their numbers will be the first movement of the Dvorak quintet, "Valse Triste" by Sibellus, a popular number known as "The Dance of the Tambourins," a group of string quartets and a selection of Tchaikowsky numbers.

"Private" Peat brings a stirring appeal for international understanding, peace and harmony among the nations in his address, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary."

Peat has toured the world. He has lectured in Australia, New Zealand, the British West Indies, has visited South America, England, France, Germany and other European countries and has now returned to the United States to resume his place on the lecture platform.

He has analyzed and investigated, through the courtesy of the ministers of education, the schools and textbooks of various countries. He has had interviews with and carries letters from the ministers of education of such countries as England, Canada, Mexico and Spain. From this method of investigation he has discovered what he considers the fundamental reason for war. As a soldier who has experienced in all its depth and breadth the horrors of war, he now stands as a soldier who advocates world peace through education.

Reserves Rockne's Problem

Irish Coach Must Build up Substitute. Strength.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Aug. 25.—When Knute K. Rockne, master mind of the American gridiron, returns from his European voyage, looks over his material for the 1928 edition of the Fighting Irish and decides that it is time to begin work, he will have no small task on his hands. Rockne will have more than a dozen experienced veterans around which to build his team, but it takes 33 good athletes for a Notre Dame team because the grizzled coach believes in using his shock troops often and freely. Hence the chief problem facing Rockne will be the building of reserve material.

The first call for candidates on September 15th will find many of Notre Dame's better known stars missing from the roll. Most important of these is John P. (Clipper) Smith, the All-American guard who will be one of Rockne's chief assistants this fall. He is to coach the line. Christy Flanagan, the famous end-circling half back; Elmer Wynee, one of the hard-hitting fullbacks ever to play for the Irish; and Bucky Dahman the consistent halfback, will likewise be among those missing.

The Notre Dame coach will have four backfield lettermen upon whom he can depend, but his reserve backfield will cause worry. John Niemiec, picked by many experts on honor teams last fall, begins his last year at left halfback. Niemiec is an ideal triple-threat man, for he can run, kick, or pass with equal proficiency. Chevigny, an excellent defensive halfback, is booked to play most of the time as Niemiec's running mate. Fred Collins should be the mainstay at fullback, especially if he shows the plunging ability that brought him to the fore in the Indiana game of 1927. Jim Brady, benefitted by a year of play, is the outstanding choice for quarterback.

Ten monogram men are returning to play in the line, although but six of these have been under the severest kind of fire. Captain Fred Miller will hold down the left-tackle job as he has done so infamously in the two years just past. Tim Moynihan, a rugged young giant, should get the call for the center job while John Law, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and George Leppig, of Cleveland, Ohio, have a preference at the guard berths.

Leppig has played for two years and Law has seen one season of varsity competition. John Colrick is the most experienced end of the lot, although he has had but one year of varsity competition. Colrick plays left end. Rockne will find it necessary to develop understudies to Colrick as well as a whole flock of wingmen to take care of the opposite extreme of the line. Ranavase, with a year of experience, will be Miller's understudy at left tackle, while Doran and McGrath, each of whom played his first varsity ball last fall, will hold down the right tackle job. Cannon and Bondi, two sophomores, will bolster up the guard department.

A double worry confronts the Notre Dame coach in that he needs to develop reserve players while he is pointing his team for two hard games early in the season as well as the usual tough contests in November.

After the Irish have opened the season at Cartier Field with Lovola of New Orleans, Wisconsin and the Navy come on succeeding Saturdays. Wisconsin, doped by many by the most promising team in the Western Conference, will play host to the Irish in Camp Randall Stadium, at Madison, Wis., on October 6th. A week later the Navy and Notre Dame play at Soldier Field, Chicago, in a game which is expected to draw upwards of 100,000 spectators. Army, Carnegie Tech and Penn State are to be met in November, with the big game at Los Angeles against Southern California concluding the schedule on the first Saturday in December.

Rockne will sail into New York from his European tour on September 2nd and he is due at Notre Dame about September 15th for the opening of football practice.

DOLP, NOVOTNY IN GOLF FINAL

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Frank Dold, of Portland, Ore., 1926 champion, and Gus Novotny of Chicago, will fight it out today for the western amateur golf championship.

Dold won his right to contest in final match by outing no less a personage than the veteran Chick Evans of Chicago, the perennial former champion. Novotny got in there by defeating Lawrence Moller, the Notre Dame student from Quincy, Ill.

Both semi-final matches were of the hair-raising variety, with all four players taking turns at negotiating "impossible" plays and tossing away easy chances.

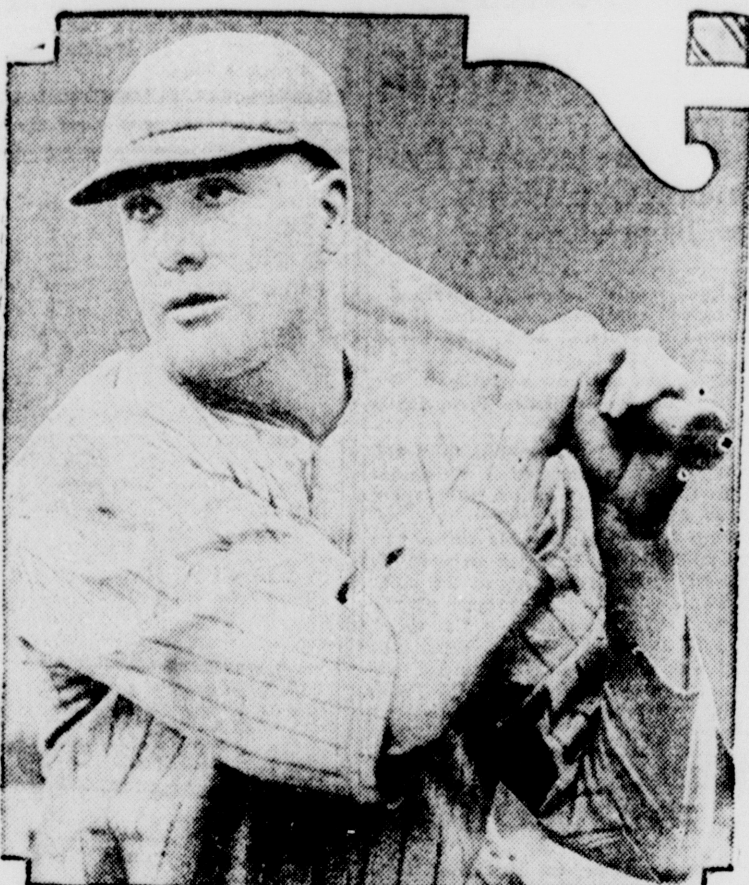

The Pacific coast star finished in front of Evans by 3 and 2, while Novotny routed the young Quincy collegian to the tune of 4 and 3.

Evans played his worst match of the tournament. The same night he said for Dold, but the latter was more successful in putting himself together after a series of bad "breaks." Dold felt any number of openings, but the eight-times ruler of western golf was unable to crash through.

Taking advantage of a lot of wild golf on the part of Moller, Novotny finished the morning round 3 up on the Notre Dame star, although Moller settled down to better golf in the afternoon, the Chicagoan's lead was to great to overcome.

AT SAN FRANCISCO—Pete Meyer, local welterweight, scored two knockdowns and won decision over Jimmy Finley, Louisville, in ten rounds.

Hambletonian Classic Draws Star Trotters

$70,000 Event to Run Monday at New York State Fair.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The $70,000 Hambletonian three-year-old trot, the harness turf's premier classic, will be contested over the New York State Fair track, Monday, Aug. 27, weather permitting.

All the leading three-year-old trotting stars of the nation will battle for the rich prize. They include Red Aubrey, Gayworthy, Spencer, Blonde Lady, Bogalusa, the Great, Scotland, Rita Volo, The Virginia Senator, Corn and Guy Abbe.

Red Aubrey, the Guy Abworthy colt owned by Henry H. Knight of Columbus, is the probable new favorite for the big race. Fireglow, the lamented son of San Francisco who recently died at the North Randall track, Cleveland, following an attack of acute indigestion, was the top choice from the very time the future books opened.

Red Aubrey showed good form when he defeated among others, the Matron and Championship Stallion State winner, Nellie Signal, 2-04, at the Kalamazoo, Mich., Grand Circuit meeting. In the first heat of the Championship Stallion event recently contested at North Randall, he finished second to Fireglow. He was one of six horses that went down in the second heat of the race and just when he was in a contending position. Nellie Signal is not eligible to the Hambletonian.

Marvin Childs, the Indianapolis reinsman who piloted Isola's Worthy to victory in last year's Hambletonian, is expected to drive the colt in the impending renewal.

Fair officials are making preparations to take care of 50,000 people, thousands of whom will arrive from all parts of the country, the day of the classic.

MIDLAND JUNIOR SCORES

Pirates won the Junior league series yesterday when they defeated the Cubs by an 8-5 score in the second of a double-header. In the first game, the Cubs won by a 7-6 count at the end of 16 innings, tying the two teams for the series.

Ordich got two bingles, making both of them good for the count. Karin starred for the Cubs.

Californians Grab 'Spot' at Forest Hills

Reach Semi-finals of Women's Singles Play.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 25.—California has made good her threat, for with the exception of Molla Bjomstedt Mallory, eight times holder of the title, the semi-finals of the women's national lawn tennis singles championship to be played here this afternoon will be an all-California affair with the heretofore invincible Helen Wills facing Miss Edith Cross, of San Francisco, in the upper bracket, and Miss Helen Jacobs, of Santa Barbara, furnishing the opposition for Mrs. Mallory.

Miss Wills has a really stiff battle ahead of her with Miss Cross because this young San Franciscan, in addition to being possessed of fine strength and stamina, is also endowed with remarkably good tennis brains. She is quick thinking and has fine coordination, so that Helen the champion will have to play some real tennis in the course of the match.

Helen was surprised yesterday to find that she had to bear down to quash a threatened uprising by Charlotte Hosmer Chapin in her quarter-finals match. Mrs. Chapin rallied to carry the fight right to the champion in the second net and when she took the eighth and ninth games to pull up to within one game of the champion it was a novel experience for Miss Wills. But she showed her superior ability by making short work of Mrs. Hosmer in the tenth game.

U. S. L. T. A. Brings in "Verdict" After Six-hour Session; Player Files Notice He Will Seek Reinstatement.

By George Barry.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—William T. Tilden's reign as the greatest lawn tennis player of his time has come to an end. Charged with violating the amateur code of the United States Lawn Tennis association, Tilden was tried by the executive committee of the association in a six hour session at the Hotel Vanderbilt last night and was found guilty on all counts by unanimous vote.

Sentence that he be declared ineligible to take part in amateur lawn tennis was immediately passed upon him. Yet, within thirty minutes after the verdict was announced—and the hour was 2 a. m., this morning, Tilden had sent word from Boston that he would seek reinstatement at the September meeting of the association.

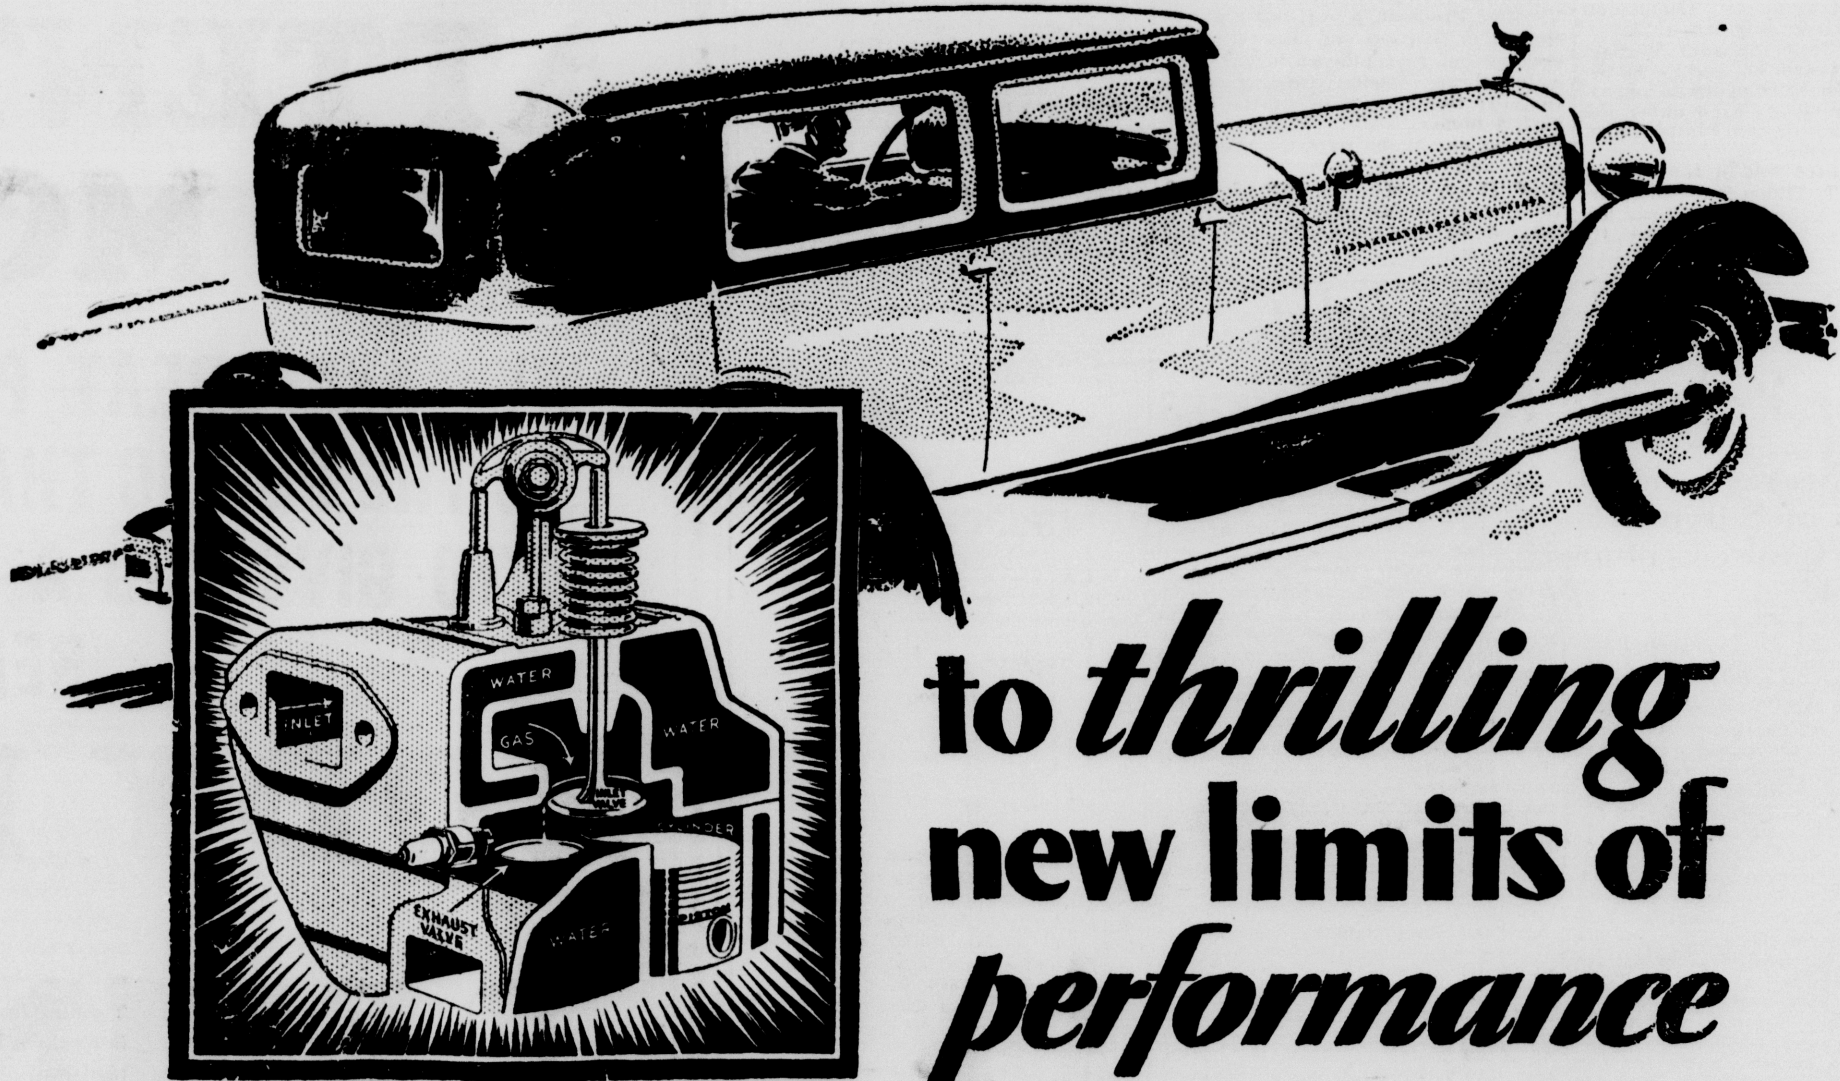

But the committee by its formal resolution and in a lengthy statement issued concurrently, indicated the door has been closed upon him and forever not so many words, but by inference so clear as to be unmistakable. There was evidence that the committee felt and knew that Tilden had flouted the rules of the association from the very date of their adoption.

In addition to the formal charges on which he was tried relating strictly to the offense committed when he wrote concerning the Wimbledon tournament the committee had before it a whole scrapbook of articles running down to 1925 and continuing to July 18 of this year, the latter dated after the charges were being considered by the committee on the amateur rule. "The violation charged is not an isolated one in his case," declared the committee, "and the whole course of Mr. Tilden's activities, compel the adoption of drastic measures. If the man who has held the highest place which can be reached by a tennis player is permitted to indulge in the practices in which he has engaged, the strength of the amateur rules is undermined and an unfortunate example set to the youth of the country."

The formal resolution of the committee decreeing Tilden's guilt reads: Resolved: That it is the decision of the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association that William T. Tilden, 2nd, has, without its consent, and in violation of the amateur rule of the association, written for pay or a consideration current newspaper articles covering a tournament in which he was entered

Cards Increase Lead Over Giants As McGraw Loses To Bucs

Laughlin Seeks Final Pennant Victory Today

Dickey Places Hopes on Digman's Twirling; Huffman Confident He Can Even Count With Potters.

Manager Joe Dickey of Homer Laughlin, having duly postponed his game with Falls Creek, Pa., originally scheduled today, until September 8, the two City league championship rivals will resume hostilities this afternoon at Nicholson field, Wellsville, in what may be the deciding clash of the series.

Having won two, the Potters need just one more to capture the pennant and Dickey is sending Digman to the hilltop with instructions to make it three straight.

Had Joe Dickey copped the opening tilt of the series he would have gotten away with that "Yock" Huffman and his mates were too much for the West Virginians in the get-away contest and they're going to try to repeat the trick this afternoon.

The Wellsville lads are waging an uphill battle at this stage of the proceedings. They need today's game to tie the series. If they win, they have one more chance. If they lose, Laughlin will be champion.

The time is 4 o'clock and the place Nicholson field. The battle is scheduled to rage for nine innings.

The second game of the series will be played Monday night at 6 o'clock at Columbian park and the third game Wednesday night at Klondyke.

Jim Bottomley is Candidate For Valuable Player Honors

First Sacker Almost Certain of Selection in Event Cards Capture Pennant.

SHOULD the St. Louis Cardinals win out in the National League race it wouldn't be at all surprising to see Jim Bottomley, the happy-go-lucky first sacker of the team, chosen as the most valuable player in the league by the boys who do the selecting every Fall.

"Sunny Jim" has been enjoying his best season this year. He's been right up among the elite in the league when it comes to connecting the wood with the horsehide, and while he may not succeed in winning the batting honors in the circuit he stands a chance of doing it, as well as leading the league in round-trip wallop.

Bottomley has been regularly employed with the Cardinals since 1922, and while he never has led the league in stick work he always has given a good account of himself at the plate—and remember that he has been going better this season than ever before.

He can easily be rated as a star and is the most popular player on the St. Louis club, if not in the league. And Jim owes his rise to stardom to a couple of dyed-in-the-wool fans whose names he doesn't even know.

Nakomis, Ill., boasts of the fact that it's Jim's birthplace. Nakomis is located in the Illinois coal mining region, where every town has its ball club, and where the rivalry between these towns runs hotter than the thermometer on a torrid August day.

Jim used to play on a sand lot team in Nakomis and his first boost to fame came when one of the dyed-in-the-wool fans passed by during the course of a game in which the youngster was doing a great job of first sacking and hitting. This fellow was so taken that he remained throughout the game and in the ninth inning saw Jim clear the bases with a full circuit drive. Later, down in the cigar store which was the local sport headquarters in Nakomis, this fan raved so about Bottomley that Henry Boner, manager of the town team, gave him a chance and hired him.

Then a former resident of Nakomis who had gone to St. Louis and obtained a policeman's job, was home on a vacation. He was another rabid fan and when he saw Bottomley working at first for the town team against a team from Witt, a nearby town, he determined that Jim had class enough to peddle his wares in the majors. During that Witt game Jim was up five times and crashed out two home runs and three triples.

That was enough to convince the St. Louis copper. He had been detailed to the ball park in St. Louis on several occasions and knew Charley Barret, the Cardinal scout. Charley heard all about Jim from the policeman and in a few days the youngster in Nakomis received a letter from Branch Rickey suggesting he report to the Cards for a try-out. No grass grew under Jim's feet while he made that trip to St. Louis and, although he was farmed out for seasoning, he returned to St. Louis in 1922 and has been an active cog in the machine ever since.

Tavin earned the reputation of being one of the greatest first basemen in the big leagues. Sunny Jim is deserving of any honors which may be heaped upon him, and if the boys who make the most valuable player award should select Bottomley for the honor this year there will be a special celebration in Nakomis and even in cities outside of St. Louis. It's hard to imagine how anyone who follows the game could object to such a choice.

City Series Is Postponed Until Tuesday

Bad Weather Conditions Hold Third Clash.

For the second straight time, rain again interfered with the third contest of the Turk Nash-K. T. K. city title series, billed last night at Columbian park.

Only a few players of each club reported, the majority staying away because of weather conditions.

However, the infield, despite the hard showers during the day, was in excellent condition while there was little, if any water in the outfield.

As a result, Manager McCoy of the Kats and Manager Fowler of Turk Nash agreed to postpone the third engagement until next Tuesday night.

In the meantime plans will be mapped out, it is understood, whereby both teams will be so strengthened that the series possibly may develop into a battle between all star teams.

Yanks' Margin Narrows As Browns Land Double

Burleigh Grimes Hangs up 22nd Win; Orsatti's Homer Gives Haines Shutout Over Phils; Walberg Blanks Tribe.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Four clubs—the Giants, the Cubs, the Reds and the Pirates—are so close to the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals that any one of them may be in first place a week from today.

The Cards increased their lead over New York to a game and a half by beating the Phillies yesterday, and the Cubs grabbed third place by taking two games from Boston while the Reds were idle.

The Yankees, leading the Athletics by only three games today, find themselves in a more precarious position than at any time since springtime. The A's, who slumped a bit following their triumphant invasion of the west, have just won four straight from Cleveland.

Yesterday the Yanks were two-timed by the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2 and 3 to 1. Crowder and Blackholder outpitched Piggars and Meimach. The Browns, who didn't beat the Yanks last year almost until the end of the season, have broken even with the champions in eighteen contests this year.

Cochrane's single staked Rube Walberg of the Athletics to a 1 to 0 victory over Joe Shaute of the Indians. Ernie Orsatti's homer, his third in six games, accounted for the only score as Jess Haines of St. Louis blanked the Phillies, 1 to 0. But the Cards haven't made more than two runs a game since the Boston series and face tough going against the other western teams next week while the Giants take on the weaker eastern clubs.

The Pirates plastered the Giants again, 16 to 5. Burleigh Grimes turned in his fifth straight win against his former mates and his 22nd victory of the season. The Bucks nicked five New York pitchers for 19 hits.

Good pitching enabled the Cubs to grab both ends of a double-header from the Braves, 4 to 1 and 4 to 3.

The Tigers got a dose of their own medicine when they were nosed out by the Red Sox, 2 to 1, after having taken four straight from the Sox by

300 HORSES IN WHEELING FAIR

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 25.—

Nearly 300 horses are expected to face the barrier during the race meeting that will be an outstanding attraction of the West Virginia State Fair, Wheeling, September 1st to 8th.

Indications are that stall room will be at a premium, although the Wheeling racing plant is one of the best equipped with stalls of any fair plant in the country.

Horses will begin to ship in this week from all points of the compass, the biggest consignment coming from Bainbridge Park, near Cleveland, where a lengthy meeting will close today.

A. G. Leonard, of Lexington, Ky., one of the best known and most popular officials of the running turf, will act as presiding steward. William Harris will be the starter and E. C. Knebelcamp will officiate as racing secretary. Joseph M. McGraw, well-known in racing circles from coast to coast, is the superintendent in charge of the race department of the fair, while C. N. Hancher is the fair director in charge.

Fifty-six events, eight on each of the seven racing days, will make up the racing card, including three handicap races.

Canada's automotive exports are growing.

Mystery at Styles

A Mystery Serial That Defies Solution

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

"No man am I, I am not in my second childhood! I steady my nerves that is all. This employment requires precision of the fingers. With precision of the fingers goes precision of the brain. And never have I needed that more than now!"

"What is the trouble?" I asked.

With a great thump on the table, Poirot demolished his carefully built up edifice.

"It is this, mon ami! That I can build card houses seven stories high, but I cannot—thump—find—thump—that last link of which I skope to you."

I could not quite tell what to say, so I help my peace, and he began slowly building up the cards again, speaking in jerks as he did so.

"It is done—so! By placing—one card—on another—with mathematical—precision!"

I watched the card house rising under his hands, story by story. He never hesitated or faltered. It was really almost like a conjuring trick.

"What a steady hand you've got," I remarked. "I believe I've only seen your hand shake once."

"On an occasion when I was enraged, without doubt," observed Poirot with great placidity.

"Yes indeed! You were in a towering rage. Do you remember? It was when you discovered that the lock of the despatch-case in Mrs. Inglethorpe's bedroom had been forced. You stood by the mantelpiece, twiddling the things on it in your usual fashion, and your hand shook like a leaf! I must say—"

But I stopped suddenly. For Poirot, uttering a hoarse and inarticulate cry, again annihilated his masterpiece of cards, and putting his hands over his eyes away backwards and forwards, apparently suffering the keenest agony.

"Good heavens, Poirot!" I cried. "What is the matter? Are you taken ill?"

"No, no," gasped Poirot, "I'm not ill—it is—it is—that I have an idea!"

"Oh!" I exclaimed, much relieved. "One of your 'little ideas'?"

"Ah, ma foi, no!" replied Poirot frankly. "This time it is an idea gigantic! Stupendous! And you—you, my friend, have given it to me!"

Suddenly clasping me in his arms, he kissed me warmly on both cheeks, and before I had recovered from my surprise ran headlong from the room.

Mary Cavendish entered at that moment.

"What is the matter with Monsieur Poirot? He rushed past me crying out: 'A garage! For the love of Heaven, direct me to a garage, madame!' And, before I could answer, he had dashed out into the street."

I hurried to the window. True enough, there he was, tearing down the street, hatless, and gesticulating as he went. I turned to Mary with a gesture of despair.

"He'll be stopped by a policeman in another minute. There he goes, round the corner!"

Our eyes met, and we stared helplessly at one another. "What can be the matter?"

I shook my head.

"I don't know. He was building card houses, when suddenly he said he had an idea, and rushed off as you saw."

"Well," said Mary, "I expect he will be back before dinner."

But night fell, and Poirot had not returned.

Poirot's abrupt departure had intrigued us all greatly. Sunday morning wore away, and still he did not reappear. But about three o'clock a ferocious and prolonged howl from outside drove us to the window, to see Poirot alighting from a car, accompanied by Japp and Summerhayes. The little man was transformed. He radiated an absurd complacency. He bowed with exaggerated respect to Mary Cavendish.

"Madame, I have your permission to hold a little reunion in the salon? It is necessary for every one to attend."

Mary smiled sadly.

"You know, Monsieur Poirot, that you have carte blanche in every way."

"You are too amiable, madame."

Still beaming, Poirot marshalled us all into the drawing-room, bringing forward chairs as he did so.

"Miss Howard—here. Mademoiselle Cynthia. Monsieur Lawrence. The good Dorcas. And Annie. Bien! We must delay our proceedings a few minutes until Mr. Inglethorpe arrives. I have sent him a note."

Miss Howard rose immediately from her seat.

"If that man comes into the house, I leave it!"

"No, no!" Poirot went up to her and pleaded in a low voice.

Finally Miss Howard consented to return to her chair. A few minutes later Alfred Inglethorpe entered the room.

The company once assembled, Poirot rose from his seat with the air of a popular lecturer, and bowed politely to his audience.

"Messieurs, mesdames, as you all know, I was called in by Monsieur John Cavendish to investigate this case. I at once examined the bedroom of the deceased which, by the advice of the doctors, had been kept locked, and was consequently exactly as it had been when the tragedy occurred. I found: first, a fragment of green material; second, a stain on the carpet near the window, still damp; thirdly, an empty box of bromide powders."

"To take the fragment of green material first, I found it caught in the bolt of the communicating door between that room and the adjoining one occupied by Mademoiselle Cynthia. I handed the fragment over to the police who did not consider it of much importance. Nor did they recognize it for what it was—a piece torn from a green land armlet."

There was a little stir of excitement.

"Now there was only one person at Styles who worked on the land—Mrs. Cavendish. Therefore it must have been Mrs. Cavendish who entered deceased's room through the door communicating with Mademoiselle Cynthia's room."

"But that door was bolted on the inside!" I cried.

"When I examined the room, yes. But in the first place we have only her word for it, since it was she who tried that particular door and reported it fastened. In the ensuing confusion she would have had ample opportunity to shoot the bolt across."

"I took an early opportunity of verifying by conjectures. To begin with, the fragment corresponds exactly with a tear in Mrs. Cavendish's armlet. Also, at the inquest, Mrs. Cavendish declared that she had heard from her own room, the fall of the table by the bed. I took an early opportunity of testing that statement by actioning my friend Monsieur Hastings, in the left wing of the building, just outside Mrs. Cavendish's door."

"I myself, in company with the police, went to the deceased's room, and whilst there I apparently accidentally, knocked over the table in question, but found that, as I had expected Monsieur Hastings had heard no sound at all."

"This confirmed my belief that Mrs. Cavendish was not speaking the truth when she declared that she had been dressing in her room at the time of the tragedy. In fact, I was convinced that, far from having been in her own room, Mrs. Cavendish was actually in the deceased's room when the alarm was given."

"I proceeded to reason on that assumption. Mrs. Cavendish is in her mother-in-law's room. We will say that she is seeking for something and has not yet found it. Suddenly Mrs. Inglethorpe awakens and is seized with an alarming paroxysm. She flings out her arm, overturning the bed table, and then pulls desperately at the bell."

"Mrs. Cavendish, startled, drops her candle, scattering the grease on the carpet. She picks it up, and retreats quickly to Mademoiselle Cynthia's room, closing the door behind her. She hurries out into the passage, for the servants must not find her where she is. But it is too late! Already footsteps are echoing along the gallery which connects the two wings."

"What can she do? Quick as thought, she hurries back to the young girl's room, and starts shaking her awake. The hastily aroused household come trooping down the passage. They are all busily battering at Mrs. Inglethorpe's door."

"It occurs to nobody that Mrs. Cavendish has not arrived with the rest, but—and this is significant—I can find no one who saw her come from the other wing."

He looked at Mary Cavendish. "Am I right, madame?"

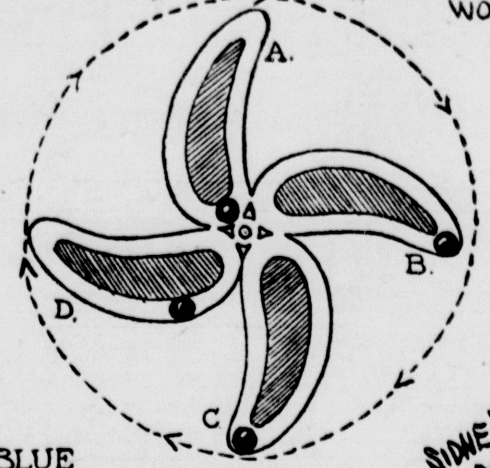

She bowed her head.
